GOVERNMENT PREPARES TO PRESENT ITS CASE AGAINST GOV. FAUBUS OF ARKANSAS

Little Rock, Ark. (AP)—The federal government unlimbered two big guns today—a mass of testimony and a secret report—prepared to bring them to court in the struggle with Gov. Orval Faubus over his refusal to permit integration of a Little Rock high school.

Faubus still showed no signs of backing down. He was smiling and appeared untroubled when he posed for photographers before another talk with Rep. Hays (D-Ark.), who is trying to mediate between him and the federal government.

Faubus termed "absolutely incorrect" a story in Time magazine that quotes him, through other persons, as saying he called out the National Guard because he intends to run for a third term, and wanted to enhance his political chances.

The magazine said a close associate of Winthrop Rockefeller was its source. Rockefeller is chairman of the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission and owns property in the state.

Faubus has consistently declined to say whether he will run for a third term.

Rockefeller, reached in New York by the Arkansas Gazette, said, "I have no comment to make that might add further confusion to an already unfortunate situation."

In Little Rock today, the story is that Faubus is searching for an avenue of compromise with Washington. But on what conditions, in terms of time or other concessions, remained his own close-to-the-vest secret.

As the hour approached for the scheduled hearing in U. S. District Court Friday on the government's petition for legal means to stop Faubus from continuing to bar Negroes from Central High school, this was the picture:

1. U. S. marshals have served subpoenas on about 200 people. Most of them are residents of Little Rock. Presumably, they are in a position to throw light on the question of whether violent action had been prepared and timed to explode Sept. 3, when the Negroes came to enroll in the high school.

Information to this effect, Faubus says, caused him to suddenly station the National Guard around Central High the night of Sept. 2.

2. Hays was still in Little Rock although he had expected to leave tomorrow. He said the illness of his father, and business reasons, changed his plans.

As he left the Governor's Mansion, he told reporters he will be available for more talks with Faubus, adding, "There is necessity for further conversations."

3. A report drawn up by the FBI was ready for Friday's hearing before U. S. Dist. Judge Ronald N. Davies. The contents are secret. However, there are reports that FBI agents checked specific points in the information Faubus said came to him.

4. In Washington, the Department of Justice has squelched reports that it will ask for a delay in the hearing.

Only One Case of Polio Listed in Latest Report

Harrisburg (AP)—Only one polio case was reported to the State Health Department during the last week.

It was the 39th recorded in Pennsylvania this year compared with 104 cases up until Sept. 18 of last year. In 1955, before the Salk vaccine, the total at this time was 520.

The department said the only case reported was the illness of June Gibbs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gibbs of Mont Alto, Franklin County. She was admitted to the Harrisburg Hospital communicable disease center Sept. 5.

Blames Most Accidents On "Lunatic Fringe"

Chambersburg (AP)—A "lunatic fringe" consisting of 10 per cent of all drivers causes most accidents, the head of Pennsylvania's Traffic Safety Bureau feels.

"This lunatic fringe is causing most of our accidents. Ten per cent of our drivers—the lunatic fringe—are responsible for the majority of our accidents," said O. D. Shipley, director of the Highway Safety Bureau. He made the statement in a speech to the Kiwanis Club last night.

Shipley declared that stepped up enforcement, aided by legalization of radar, "can rid our highways of the chronic law violator—the lunatic fringe—and drastically cut a death toll which is a national disgrace."

Kansas Principal Accidentally Hangs During Class Initiation

Utica, Kan. (AP)—W. H. Sallee, principal of Utica High School, happily set about the blood-curdling role he had assigned himself.

He blacked his eyes with burnt cork and smeared catsup on his face. He slung a rope from the ceiling of the kitchen in an abandoned farmhouse just out of town and secured it under his armpits.

He waited in the dark.

The occasion was the annual senior initiation of new high school freshmen Monday night. Sallee, 60, had volunteered to play dead so he could keep an eye on things. . . . be sure they didn't get out of hand.

Mrs. Betty Stevens, class sponsor, and 11 seniors drove up to the sear old house with 23 freshmen in tow.

One by one the freshmen were blindfolded and led inside. At the kitchen there were moans. The blindfold was lifted and a senior flashed an electric torch on the hanging man.

After the eighth freshman had jittered through the course, the seniors decided it would be an idea to get a picture of their principal. He was such a good sport.

Mrs. Stevens called to Sallee. No response. Flashlights winked on Sallee slumped in the rope. Someone called a doctor. The principal was dead.

An autopsy showed he had strangled.

"We don't know for sure what happened," said Sheriff Harold Melles of Ness County. "He may have fallen and struck his neck on the rope. There was a rope burn halfway around the side of his neck. There was lots of trash in the house, sacks and tire chains and such stuff. He could have stumbled on them and gotten tangled up in the rope."

Phone Strike Situation Is In Stalemate

New York (AP)—Federal mediators try again today to hammer out agreement on a contract which would end a nationwide strike of 23,800 telephone exchange equipment installers.

After a five-hour negotiation session yesterday, Federal Mediator Walter A. Magglo reported "no significant change by either party" to the dispute.

The dispute is between the Communications Workers of America and the Western Electric Co., manufacturing arm of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. A&T, surveying 14 cities yesterday, reported long-distance service "mostly good."

The company said long-distance telephone calls from New York City were cut an estimated 10 to 20 per cent yesterday.

On Monday, the strikers threw picket lines around telephone buildings in 44 states and the District of Columbia. An estimated 150,000 operators were kept from their jobs.

The company said workers passing through the lines and supervisory personnel were handling long-distance calls.

Dial phones were not affected. The company said most local service was maintained even in non-dial areas.

Issues in the first installers' strike since 1954 are centered on wages, travel allowances and length of contract.

Theft Indictment Faces Armstrong Co. Prisoner

Pittsburgh (AP)—The Allegheny County grand jury today returned a theft indictment against Eugene A. Etnin, one of three prisoners recaptured Sunday night after a brief escape from the Armstrong County Jail.

The indictment charges Etnin and his 18-year-old wife Nancy with taking a watch valued at $87 from the home of Anna Verbocky, 743 Freeport Rd., Creighton, while they were inspecting the home as possible buyers.

The 34-year-old Etnin has been in the Western State Penitentiary since Tuesday when he was sentenced to a 20 to 40 years term on a robbery charge.

His companions in the brief break for freedom were Robert Talley Davis, convicted murderer facing the death penalty and William Crusan.

Lamb Asks Extension Of Time on New Station

Washington (AP)—Publisher Edward Lamb wants an additional 30 days to report on a long-standing plan to operate an ultrahigh frequency UHF TV station in Pittsburgh.

Lamb, operator of TV station WICU at Erie and other broadcasting stations in Ohio and Florida, made the request yesterday to the Federal Communications Commission.

In 1953 Lamb contracted to buy the construction permit held by Golden Triangle Television Corp. for proposed Channel 47 station WTVQ. The transfer proposal, however, was held up because of lengthy license-renewal proceedings involving WICU. That station's license was renewed earlier this year.

Flowing Contest

Peebles, Ohio (AP)—With Ohio's two state champions picked, the 1957 World Conservation Exhibition and Flowing Contest went into the second day today with 27 competitors vying for national honors.

From the 27, one national champion will be picked in each of two flowing divisions—contour and level land. The winners automatically qualify for next year's world contest in Germany.

World contest competitors are selected a year in advance through state and national eliminations.

Residents of Kinzua Area To Hold Public Meeting Thursday Night To Protest Dam

CONSTITUTION OF THAILAND IS SUSPENDED

By MURRAY FROMSON
Bangkok, Thailand, (AP)—Thailand's constitution has been suspended and a military junta is ruling, an army spokesman announced today.

Lt. Gen. Surajit Charusaran, acting deputy chief of staff, told newsmen the junta had given no consideration as yet to the naming of a successor for ousted Premier P. Pibulsonggram. His regime was toppled in an army coup yesterday.

Army Chief Marshal Sarit Thanarat, the coup leader named military governor of Bangkok by King Phumiphon Aduldet, was conferring with justice officials on how to legalize his coup.

Lt. Gen. Surajit said the junta had not decided on the future of the Thai Parliament. But observers here believe the junta will want Parliament to stay in office at least until it can vote support of the new ruling group. After that it may be dissolved.

Sarit told newsmen yesterday any new regime would follow along in the pro-Western policies of the Pibulsonggram government.

Pibulsonggram's whereabouts remained a mystery.

Officials have been trying repeatedly to convince Pibulsonggram that no personal harm would come to him if he returns to the capital.

"He can run the next parliament as he wishes," Surajit told newsmen.

The army spokesman said the army would allow political parties to function freely, but he added that an anti-Communist law banning that party would remain in force.

Sarit had the formal backing of King Phumiphon Aduldet.

The King issued a statement calling on government officials to obey Sarit's orders, maintain order and await further instructions. Thai kings have been figureheads for the past 30 years and the royal blessing for Sarit's move was expected.

Jury Still Deliberating In Magazine Libel Trial

Los Angeles (AP)—The Confidential magazine criminal libel trial jury today goes into its second day of deliberations.

The jurors spent 5 hours and 20 minutes considering the case yesterday, then were locked up in a hotel for the night.

The case was handed to the jury Monday afternoon after a six-week trial.

In addition to Confidential, the defendants are Whisper magazine, Publisher's Distributing Corp., Hollywood Research, Inc., and Marjorie Meade. They are charged with conspiracy to commit criminal libel and to publish lewd and obscene material.

Five-Times Indicted Mayor of Portland Cleared of Charges

Portland, Ore. (AP)—Terry Schunk, the five-times-indicted mayor of Portland, was freed of the last charge in a long vice investigation yesterday.

As with two previous charges, a state prosecutor said there were no grounds for the charge against the mayor, and a state circuit court complied with his motion for dismissal.

"Thank God for the American judicial system," said the 44-year-old Schunk, who had insisted that when he decided to run for mayor last year he became the target of a frameup by "a combination of the local underworld and a few so-called kingmakers in our community who operated on a basis of rule or ruin."

The last charge dismissed was one accusing the mayor of trying to get two women to swear falsely that gambler Big Jim Elkins, a key figure in the vice investigation, was a narcotic addict who was connected with prostitution here. Prosecutor Arthur Higgs said the indictment listed 24 acts and not one constituted a crime.

Identical charges against three other persons also were dismissed.

Roving Rabble Rouser Pleads Innocent

In a brief arraignment in Nashville, Tenn., Criminal Court, roving segregationist John Kasper pleaded innocent to inciting a riot in connection with integration of schools in Nashville. He was given 60 days to prepare his defense. Judge Chester K. Hart is at left. At Kasper's left is his attorney, M. S. Ross, and Asst. District Atty. R. B. Parker. (NEA Telephoto)

Negro Named Pastor of All-White Congregation

Champlin, Minn. (AP)—Dr. Charles M. Sexton, a Negro, today assumed full-time pastorate over the Champlin Church's all-white congregation.

"This is a fine advancement in race relations, a Christian demonstration," he said after his appointment was confirmed yesterday by Bishop D. Stanley Coors, Minnesota Methodist leader.

James Cook, church chairman, said the vote for calling the Rev. Mr. Sexton was unanimous among the 160 members. "We think he is a wonderful leader," Cook said.

Foreign Naval Officials Are Greeted By Ike

Newport, R. I. (AP)—President Eisenhower today told naval officers of 27 countries that the free world nations must be strong individually and collectively "to defend against any kind of an attack."

The president made the statement in an informal talk to a group of officers who are taking command courses at the U. S. Naval War College. The college is situated on Coaster's Harbor Island near Eisenhower's vacation headquarters.

Each of the 27 officers was introduced to the President and he had a hearty handshake for each. They were presented to Eisenhower or just outside the building where his temporary office is located.

The White House acknowledged receipt of a telegram from Rep. Powell (D-NY) urging Eisenhower to confer with him and other Negro leaders regarding the school integration situation generally.

Press secretary James C. Hagerty said Eisenhower probably will reply in a few days, but he declined to speculate on whether the President would grant Powell's request. Powell supported Eisenhower in 1956.

Powell returned to New York City from a trip to Europe yesterday and characterized the Arkansas school integration situation as a "major catastrophe for the United States abroad."

Arrival of Girl Baby Breaks 51-Year Legend

Ellwood City (AP)—After 51 years of nothing but boys, a girl has been born to the wife of an Ellwood City attorney.

An odd record and a legend died Monday night with the birth in Ellwood City Hospital of Patricia Lynn Sewall to Atty. and Mrs. George Sewall Jr.

At last count, eight city attorneys had a total of 13 sons, including George Sewall III. And this had been going on continuously since 1906.

The Sewalls also have an 8-year-old daughter, Pamela Louise, but since she was born in Warren before the family moved here it had been decided the record was intact.

But little Patricia ended that. Incidentally, she weighed 7 pounds 7 ounces.

Mild Epidemic of Asian Flu Reported Sweeping Some Areas

By The Associated Press

Thousands of flu cases, most of it believed to be of the Asian variety, were reported today in New York, Mississippi, and Texas. School-age children were the hardest hit.

A board of health report showed 24,000 cases in Mississippi. Outbreaks near the epidemic stage existed in 12 Mississippi counties.

Dr. A. L. Gray, director of preventive disease control for Mississippi, said most of the cases are Asian flu. Up to 40 per cent of the population has or has had flu in some areas, he added.

Doctors investigated a suspected epidemic of Asian flu among more than 400 school children in the town of Hastings in Oswego County, N. Y.

Five schools in Hastings remained closed. They suspended classes yesterday, the first schools in New York to do so because of flu.

Ninety pupils at an elementary school in Niagara Falls, N. Y., were stricken with an illness believed to be Asian flu. The school remained open.

The flu outbreak in Texas appeared to be spreading. At Conroe, 60 miles north of Houston, 300 pupils were absent with flu.

Dr. J. R. Cook said the situation definitely had reached the epidemic stage at Trinity, Tex., 70 miles north of Conroe, where 100 children were stricken.

At Dallas, City Health Director J. W. Bass set up classes in home nursing in event of a widespread outbreak of flu there. He said an epidemic could hit 50,000 persons in Dallas, creating a critical shortage of hospital space. Only three confirmed cases of Asian flu have been reported there.

The whole school system in Jasper, another southeastern Texas town, was closed. Some 400 to 2,000 pupils were absent with flu.

Other outbreaks were reported at Beaumont, Port Arthur, Port Acres and Angleton, all along the upper Texas coast.

The Pennsylvania Health Dept., announced it has confirmed 17 cases in that state, said it considered this amount "very little and certainly not widespread."

Pittsburgh's Mayor Defends Wage Tax In Campaign Talk

Pittsburgh (AP)—Mayor David L. Lawrence came to the defense of the city's wage tax and police department yesterday in the formal kickoff of his campaign for re-election.

Lawrence discussed the issues in a speech at the Pittsburgh Press Club. A Democratic national committeeman, he is bidding for an unprecedented fourth term.

Republican John Drew has drawn a bead on the wage tax and police force scandals in his campaign to unseat Lawrence.

The mayor credited the one-half per cent wage tax with enabling the city to maintain financial solvency. He candidly admitted he was wrong when he stated in 1951 that Pittsburgh did not need the tax. It went into effect two years later.

Pointing to the 1,700 persons in the police department, Lawrence said it is not reasonable to expect a complete absence of human frailty. He added that he would match the city's force with any in the country.

Sheffield Boy Named Leader of Contingent

Charles Thomas McNeal, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. McNeal of Sheffield, was designated by Warren County Selective Service Board as leader for the contingent sent last night to New Cumberland for Army induction today.

Leaving with him on the east-bound Pennsylvania train were George H. Tietze, Warren; Donald E. Glenn and Floyd C. Hockenberry, Jr., of Pittsburgh; and Dennis K. Littlefield, Warren RD 2. William E. Greenfield, originally a member of the contingent, was transferred to a New York City board.

By the same train, the local board sent one registrant for pre-induction physical examination at New Cumberland.

In addition to a large group of relatives and friends on hand last night, Commander Greg Berger and Jack Barr were present to represent Chief Complanter Post, American Legion; Melvin G. Keller, the local draft board.

Machines Seized by FBI Are Restored to Owner

Pittsburgh (AP)—Forty-six machines seized by the FBI last year in raids on clubs and bars in western Pennsylvania are not gambling devices, a U. S. District Court judge ruled yesterday.

Judge Rabe F. Marsh ordered the machines turned over to the owner, Robert Lamont. He had filed suit to recover the confiscated machines.

Called jokers, bugaboos or electronic point-makers, the machines were manufactured in Wyoming and Montana and shipped to Pennsylvania.

FBI agents seized the machines in January, 1956, under a law prohibiting interstate movement of gambling machines.

In his ruling Judge Marsh said that to be gambling devices machines must have a spinning drum or wheel with symbols printed on it.

Judge Flick Sets a Precedent In His Forest County Decisions

Judge Alexander C. Flick, Jr., President Judge of 38th Judicial District who last week helped straighten out some matters in Warren County court, yesterday handed down two opinions on procedural items pending in Forest County.

In Judge Flick's first opinion, which considered a section of the state constitution never before interpreted by a court, he ruled that Attorney Harold S. Hampson of Warren because of his residence outside Forest County could no longer hold the position of Forest County Solicitor to which he was appointed January 2, 1956 for Forest County Commissioners.

Stated Judge Flick: "The Court held that the position of County Solicitor is an 'office' and therefore the County Solicitor must be a resident of the County where he is appointed, under Article XIV, Section 3 of the Constitution of Pennsylvania which provides that no person shall be appointed to any office in any County unless he shall have been a citizen and inhabitant thereof for one year."

Forest County District Attorney James L. Foreman had petitioned the court for removal of Solicitor Hampson. Hampson's representative in the case, Samuel F. Bonavita, said his client has 15 days in which to appeal the decision.

It was pointed out that though the situation was not a new one, this was the first time a court had interpreted the fine legal point between an "office" and, in the words of Attorney Bonavita "just plain employment." The judge noted in his opinion that Attorney Hampson had himself mentioned in open

MANY PHASES OF ISSUE TO BE DISCUSSED

According to a well known resident of the area "the Kinzua Dam may have to be put in over a few dead bodies after all."

A strong, united protest, long in mounting, has finally crystallized in the form of an open meeting in Kinzua Fire Hall at 8 p. m. Thursday.

An aroused populace of the Kinzua Valley has engaged a Bradford attorney to speak to them tomorrow on the legal possibilities open to them.

Other interested parties, working quietly, have obtained pictures of several dams built recently by United States Army engineers. The dams are called "somewhat less than picturesque or monumental."

Though no Kinzua homeowner is yet known to have been approached by the government with a bonafide offer for property, Col. R. E. Sprague in Pittsburgh said that the $1,000,000 appropriation finally wrestled through Congress would be used to survey the valley with a view to purchase land holdings.

Present at the meeting Thursday will be many Kinzua Valley residents who are not satisfied that the petition which was sent to Washington earlier this year with approximately 200 signatures, represented a true sampling of feelings among valley residents.

Also to be brought up at the protest meeting will be tentative consideration of where, if the fight is lost, Kinzua village may be moved. Legal points involving the fire department and burial grounds will also be raised.

Richard Morrison, a staunch opponent of the dam since engineers began toying with the project three decades ago, is expected to moderate the session.

The Seneca Indians, who stand to lose part of their lands, are standing by other valley residents in continuing and mounting protest of government land condemnation for the project.

Tropical Storm Esther Lashes The Gulf Coast

New Orleans (AP)—Tropical storm Esther lashed her 64 m.p.h. winds at New Orleans today and became the third Gulf storm to strike the Louisiana coast in less than three months.

Unlike her predecessor hurricanes, Audrey and Bertha, Esther missed the Louisiana-Texas border and hit southeast Louisiana instead.

The 64 m.p.h. winds were reported (Turn to Page Sixteen)

Co. Association For Retarded Children Has First Meeting

A group of thirty-eight parents, teachers and friends met Tuesday evening in the Social Rooms of the Warren County Dairy to open the 1957-58 season of the Warren County Association for Retarded Children.

Mrs. Clifford Bollinger, president, introduced the committee chairman for the coming year, who in turn presented their reports. Of particular interest to all was the report of the Institution Committee who stated that four new Hospital Schools are to be constructed for the Department of Welfare on the Hospital grounds of Morgantown near Cannonsburg, on a site near Ebensburg at Whitehaven near Hazleton, and on the existing Byberry State Hospital grounds at Philadelphia. Terrific overcrowding at Polk and Pennhurst State Schools can be virtually eliminated when the new installations are completed two to three years from now.

Plans for a Parent Education Group were discussed and it was decided to have Louis Schauer, Assistant Professor of Social Work of the Graduate School of Social Work of the University of Pittsburgh, attend the October meeting to outline and discuss his program for this group.

A Workshop entitled "The Retarded Child Can Be Helped" is to be held at Beatty School, Saturday afternoon October 26th. This workshop will be divided into three groups—Industrial, Clinical, and Educational. The leaders of these groups will all be specialists in the field which they represent and will be able to bring many new and challenging ideas to those concerned with the welfare of all children.

Following the business meeting a recording of Dale Evans Rogers report to the National Convention of the NARC was heard. Included in this report were two inspirational poems which were enjoyed by all.

A Social Hour followed with refreshments served by the Hospitality Committee.

Assistance Board Executive Director Resigns Position

At the regular monthly meeting of Warren County Board of Assistance in the Blue and White Restaurant Tuesday evening, the resignation of the executive director, Miss Frances Schummelfeng, was received and accepted to be effective October 1.

Miss Schummelfeng expressed her appreciation to present and past boards for consideration, courtesy, kindness, and understanding they have shown her.

Miss Schummelfeng attended Warren High School, was graduated from Armitage School in Wayne, Pa., and earned her degree from Vassar College. After graduation from Vassar, she continued her work in a graduate program at Bryn Mawr College and Columbia University.

During World War I, she spent time in France in the AEF, associated with the YMCA. Her public service began in February, 1933, in her work with the Emergency Relief Board. Two years later she was associated with the Mothers' Assistance Fund.

During the latter part of 1937 these two agencies went through a process of being combined and in January, 1938, Miss Schummelfeng became the first executive director for the Warren County Board of Assistance. She has worked faithfully in this capacity in the interest of needy people up to the present time. The office, under her leadership, has a fine record over the years for careful, efficient operation under very definite rules and regulations established by state law and state public assistance board policies.

As a follow-up to the official acceptance of Miss Schummelfeng's resignation, the board saw fit to consider favorably the promotion of Miss Marian Sleeman to the position.

Miss Sleeman was graduated from Warren High School and earned her degree from Allegheny College. She has attended graduate classes in social work at the Pennsylvania State University, University of Buffalo, University of

The local public assistance office works quietly and effectively through a staff of one director, three caseworkers, and a clerk, to provide general assistance, old-age assistance, aid to dependent children, pensions for the blind, aid to disabled, and foster home care.

Much Interest Shown Locally In Pa. Livestock Exposition

Interest is mounting day by day within the county in the first Pennsylvania International Livestock Exposition to be held November 12-16 in the Farm Show Building in Harrisburg, according to the ticket chairman for Warren County, A. J. Weiler.

Farmers, businessmen, bankers and workers in many other fields in all parts of the state have been ordering tickets and some industrial and other organizations are planning to purchase large blocks of tickets for distribution to their employees, he said.

The reason is attributed to the great boost that is expected in the further advancement of Pennsylvania's rapidly growing livestock industry and the production of high quality red meats to meet consumer demands.

Among other attractions, visitors to the "Keystone International" livestock show will have opportunity to witness the judging of live market steers, market hogs and wether lambs and later see how the placings "on foot" agree with the placement of dressed carcasses "on rail."

Nearly 3,000 head of beef cattle, sheep and swine are expected at the exposition, coming from all sections of the United States and from Canada. Entries close October 1 and by that time many Pennsylvania breeders will have entered their prize animals in the national competition for more than $75,000 in premium awards.

Leon Falk, Jr., Pittsburgh, is chairman of the Pennsylvania Livestock Exposition and William L. Medford, Chester, is chairman of the Pennsylvania Livestock Exposition and William L. Medford, Chester, is chairman of the ticket committee.

One of the exposition features will be a world championship rodeo in the Farm Show Arena which is expected to attract more than 200 professional cowboys seeking points for national ranking. Separate tickets will be required for the rodeo, obtainable later from the exposition headquarters office, 1831 N. Cameron Street, Harrisburg.

Referendum On Peddling Law Is Planned by Area C. of C.

The Warren Area Chamber of Commerce board of directors voted last night to conduct a referendum among its membership to determine sentiment about the recently enacted borough law prohibiting peddling.

Members of the board were not in agreement as to whether the ordinance was good or bad for the community and agreed that the 475 members should be given a chance to express their views before the Board took a stand.

Reports were made to the directors on several committee meetings held recently to discuss the law including a session with public safety committee of borough council which proposed the far reaching ordinance.

Pros and cons of the law will be submitted to the membership by mail with a ballot enclosed.

Directors made plans to attend a one day Chamber of Commerce workshop in Erie on October 10 sponsored by United States Chamber and led by four national Chamber experts.

It was reported that $7,000 has been pledged in the industrial and economic survey fund drive now underway for the Warren County Development Association. The goal is expected to be reached when all reports are in.

Progress reports were made on many projects including air and highway transportation, retail activities, tourist attraction, hunters directory, and the 1958 annual banquet. The banquet committee announced that one of the nation's outstanding speakers has been engaged for the February event.

Last night's board meeting was held at Neil Culbertson's camp at Cherry Glen with Chamber President Paul Harrington as host.

Harrisburg—House Bill No. 105 signed by Governor George M. Leader into Act No. 315 as of July 8, 1957, is now in effect. The Act extends time for filing claims for Pennsylvania World War II Bonus to December 31, 1958.

Veterans who have not previously applied for this bonus may obtain applications by writing to Russell Johns, Supervisor, Pennsylvania World War II Veterans' Compensation Bureau, Room 207 South Office Building, Harrisburg, Penna.

Colonel William B. Freeland, Deputy Adjutant General for Veterans Affairs of the Pennsylvania Department of Military Affairs, stressed the fact that this is not a new bonus but an extension of the deadline for filing applications for those who have not filed previously because of conditions beyond their control.

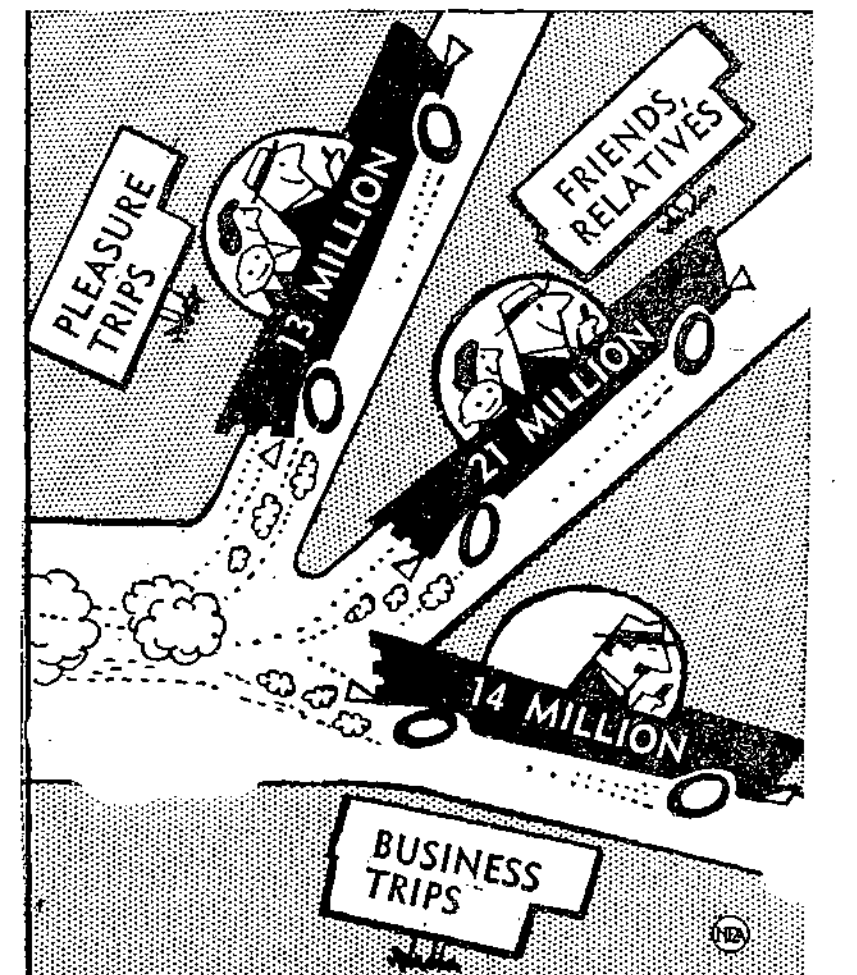

Colonel Freeland said, "while applications are now being accepted, it is earnestly requested of all applicants that they examine and check their records to make sure they have not filed previously before they make an application at this time".

For further information contact the Veterans Affairs Office, Court House, Warren, Pennsylvania.

EASY DOES IT—Twelve pair of hands carefully ease one of the world's largest panes of glass into its frame at the C.I.T. Financial Corporation building on Madison Avenue in New York. The slab of 1/2-inch-thick glass is 9 feet, 10 inches wide, 21 1/4 feet high, and weighs 1,600 pounds. It's the first of three such "lights" that are part of the main entrance facade. Twenty men, using special equipment, took part in the operation.

WHERE ARE THEY ALL GOING?—Those autos dusting along on the inter-city highways—ever wonder where they're all going? The Census Bureau tried to satisfy this curiosity with a survey. They found 48 million trips taken in the first 15 weeks of 1957. Destinations appear in the chart above. To be counted as a "trip," a journey involved an overnight stop away from home or 100 miles traveled in one day.

PERSONAL INCOMES

Americans made money at the rate of almost 347½ billion dollars a year during August, which was up about one billion from the July rate, according to a government estimate as revealed in an Associated Press dispatch from Washington.

The dispatch says that works out to about $2,019 for every man, woman and child in the country.

The Commerce Department's report on personal income covers wages and salaries, the net income of proprietorships and partnerships—both farm and non-farm—as well as dividends and interests, net rents received by landlords and other types of individual income.

The seasonally adjusted annual rate of August was $347,300,000,000 compared to $346,200,000,000 in July.

About half the July-August rise in wage and salary payments, with most of the remainder in proprietors' income. Payroll increases were noted over the month in most private industries and in government. However, there was a slight drop in such categories as construction, manufacturing and mining.

Total nonagricultural income moved upward from an adjusted annual rate of 330½ billion dollars in July to $331,300,000,000 in August. Total agricultural income climbed by 300 million dollars to an annual rate of 16 billion.

For the first eight months of this year, personal income was at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of nearly 342 billion dollars, compared to just over 323 billion in the corresponding period of last year and nearly 327 billion for the full year of 1956.

The biggest jump here was in wage and salary payments. They were at a rate of more than 238 billion dollars for the January-August period this year, compared to 224½ billion for the same eight months of 1956. The figure for the full year of 1956 was 227 billion dollars.

The annual rate of personal income in August, the middle month of the third quarter, was 5 billion dollars above that of the second quarter of this year. About two-thirds of this gain was in wages and salaries in nonmanufacturing industries remained unchanged, as declining employment and work hours offset the effects of rising wage rates.

SCHOOL LUNCH PROGRAM

A bulletin just received from the Pennsylvania Milk Control Commission contains information that emphasizes the magnitude of the National School Lunch Program now entering its 12th year of operation, and which is expected to top 1,800,000,000 meals served during the past school year. Among other things it says:

The U. S. Department of Agriculture, in reviewing last year's figures, says it took a total of 415 million dollars worth of local food purchases to provide the school lunch meals. In addition, about 147 million dollars worth of farm foods were donated by the Department, mostly out of surplus price-support stocks. And the youngsters drank 445 million quarts of milk with their lunches—plus another 437 million quarts at other times under the Federally-sponsored Special Milk Program. Of course, all milk is bought locally.

Although administered nationally by the Department's Agricultural Marketing Service, school lunch programs are primarily locally sponsored and supported. Last year, total Federal contributions—cash and commodities—amounted to 230 million dollars. But across the nation, total expenditures were more than three times that amount—and the other 70 per cent came from State and local sources.

USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service reported that of a total appropriation of $100 million, which Congress provided for this year's program, $83.6 million has been apportioned among the 48 states. District of Columbia and the territories and possessions—Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, Guam and the Virgin Islands. The funds will be paid out in quarterly installments.

The funds are apportioned on the basis of the number of children between the ages of 5 and 17, inclusive, and the need for assistance in the State as indicated by the relation of the per capita income in the United States to the per capita income in the State. These funds are used to reimburse schools in part for their local food purchases.

In addition to the funds apportioned, $15 million is available to USDA for the purchase and distribution to schools of foods which help to meet the nutritional requirements of school children.

Here and There

We are in receipt of a copy of a booklet entitled "A Memoriam to Our Doctor . . . Dr. Charles H. VerMilyea." Pictures on the pages inside the attractive cover show the congenial Russell physician who brought into this world at least 2,500 babies during his practice of over fifty years sitting at his office desk; the Doctor's first baby Paul R. Kelley born August 21, 1897; Doctor's last baby, Janet Marie Reagle, born March 6, 1949, and "the Doctor's Office." The booklet contains the memorial address given by the Rev. William A. Thornton on the occasion of the funeral of Dr. Charles VerMilyea at Russell. Under the heading "X-Ray Pictures," is contained this information: "According to Dr. VerMilyea's records he delivered over 2,500 babies. He always spoke proudly of them as 'his babies' but he was proudest of the fact that he never lost a mother in child birth. The first baby he delivered in Russell was Paul R. Kelley, August 21, 1897. Since his office was in Garland at that time it is probable he rode his bicycle the 24 miles to attend this case as was his custom before he acquired his first horse. The second baby was Delilah Randall born March 28, 1898. To reach this home he had to wade a considerable distance through deep drifts of snow. As near as can be ascertained Doctor's last baby was Janet Marie Reagle born March 6, 1949, at Scandia. The fees for his cases were always tempered by the financial circumstances of the family. More than once he left more than his fee to buy necessities for the children." Also mentioned under this heading is this information: "In recent years several honors have been bestowed upon him. In 1947 he was saluted from coast to coast over the radio as 'The Typical Country Doctor.' The same year the Medical Society of which he was a member gave a banquet for him in Erie. On this occasion the doctors presented him a testimonial plaque in recognition of his fifty years as a successful practicing physician. About the same time the Masonic lodge presented him with a jewel in honor of fifty years of active membership." Names of almost 400 "babies" who contributed to the purchase of the chimes or were registered by parents or friends, are also printed in the booklet.

One of those "once-in-a-million" incidents occurred in the editorial rooms of the office Tuesday afternoon which involved a letter mislabeled for Warren, which was intended for "The Tribune, Warren, O." The envelope contained the information it was mailed out from Corry by Clinton "Speed" Pratt, manager and public relations director for Johnny Hardinger's Crash Kings auto daredevil; Skyline Speedway, Sugar Grove, Pine Grove, Speedway, Shippensburg, Auto Racing Inc., West Middlesex, and the Jefferson Speedway, Jefferson, O. A moment after the messenger had delivered the envelope to the editor's desk, and while it was being examined to determine whether it was intended for the Times-Mirror, or "The Tribune," which has been out of existence for over a quarter of a century, Mr. Pratt, himself walked into the office. When the letter was handed to him his face beamed, and he remarked, "my gosh, that letter was supposed to go to The Tribune in Warren, Ohio." Incidentally "Speed" is considering opening an advertising and promotion agency to serve the area in a wider field, an activity for which he is well equipped.

Private Flying Will Grow With Army Air Program

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—A big boom in civilian private flying in small aircraft is foreseen from the U. S. Army's development of planes that will fly "lower and slower."

By 1960, says Col. G. F. Senett of Army Aviation's research and development staff, the Army hopes to replace all aircraft it now has in service with new and better equipment. "What the Army really needs is an aerial jeep," he says.

Today fixed-wing aircraft offer no substitute for helicopters, even if a vertical take-off and landing are perfected.

But helicopters are hard to maintain in the field. The Army wants Model T ruggedness and economy. The first step here is to develop small gas turbines of 55 to 500 horsepower. Only 800 and 1,500 h. p. gas turbines are in existence today.

THE ARMY IS LOOKING first for a two-place helicopter that will halve the present 20,000-pound weight empty and $700,000 cost. Delivery of the first six Hiller flying platforms will be made soon. All are one-man units. What Army wants is a platform to carry two men, one to pilot and one to observe.

Next year the Army will start getting its first Bell H-40 helicopters, powered by gas turbines. This will be an aerial hot rod. It will be capable of "skydiving"—skycavalry—operations as troop carrier, transport and light gun mount.

"Drone" helicopters, operated by multiple remote control for advance supply, are already in experimental use. Having no pilot to carry makes possible greater cargo lift and greater safety.

AT THE END of its initial six-year development program in 1963, Army hopes to have a "flying crane" helicopter that will carry 12-ton loads for 50 miles.

In a second Army Aviation research program aimed at 1964-1970, it is hoped to develop unconventional fixed-wing aircraft which can replace helicopters on many missions. Among them:

Multiwing planes, with a shorter wing span, which will make possible landing on roads or other closed areas.

Tilt-wing planes, in which the wing is vertical for take-off and landing, shifting to horizontal for flight.

Rotating rotors, horizontal for take-off and landing, vertical in flight. Unloaded rotors, in which rotors provide the lift, then are idled while conventional wing surfaces take over the lift, and forward thrust is provided by propellers.

Ducted fans, for increased lift, may provide the Army with a whole new family of airborne transport vehicles.

ONE UNIT UNDER research would carry a Little John missile launcher. It would be able to deliver its fire and get out before being clobbered itself, as a tank would be.

Such vehicles will have to be able to fly only a few feet off the ground. But they would have to be able to land on the side of a hill, then roll to the top on their own wheels, so as to raise no dust on the skyline and give themselves away.

An entirely new series of electronics instruments and navigation gear will have to be developed for low-level flight. One idea is an infrared TV. It would take a picture of where the plane was going, even in low visibility. This picture would then be projected on a cathode ray tube in the cockpit, to give the pilot a map of what he was flying over.

Such a device, if perfected, would, of course, be a tremendous aid to private flyers caught in bad weather.

SOCIETY

Overflow Crowd Attends Jefferson PTA Session

A capacity crowd overflowed Jefferson School auditorium Monday evening as an interested aggregation of PTA members joined in a brief business session before adjourning to respective classrooms and a glimpse at modern education methods.

PTA President John L. Lutz, presiding at the session, introduced Willis Lundahl, who offered devotions. Principal David G. Olsoff introduced respective teachers and briefly addressed visiting parents.

The evening's business included appointment of John R. Logan to a special committee working to study the effect of a recent borough ordinance banning door-to-door peddling as it may pertain to future ice cream social ticket sales.

Mrs. R. Pierson Eaton, magazine chairman, urged PTA member subscriptions to the national publication and parents were also reminded to send dues payment to school with pupils.

Attendance award was won by Miss Ann Ruhling's afternoon kindergarten group, with Miss Ellen Thoreson's third grade placing a close second.

The initial session was climaxed when Mrs. Charles Frantz and a committee of fifth grade mothers served refreshments.

JANET DUMBAUGH

MRS. BERDEN A. S. LAY

Among newcomers to the faculty of Youngsville High School this year is Miss Janet Dumbaugh, who will teach Shorthand II, Transcription, Typewriting II, and two sections of Typewriting I; and will share responsibility of advising the Broadwalk staff with Miss Eleanor Onest of the English department. Resident of Butler and 1956 graduate of Westminster College, with a bachelor of business administration degree, she taught last year in Northern Butler County Joint High School. Actual office experience has included a year and two summers in a bank bookkeeping department, one summer as secretary, the other in the field of selling.

Another staffer being welcomed in Youngsville is Mrs. Berdena Smith Lay, educated in Titusville High School and Edinboro State Teachers' College and an earlier teacher in Spring Creek, Eldred Township, Youngsville and North Warren. Mrs. Lay had planned to retire from the teaching field this year, but has accepted the post of first grade instructor in Youngsville Elementary School.

District Sunday School Teachers Name Officers

The Mature Parent

Hubby, Not Mother-in-Law, May Be the Problem Here

BY MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

"MY mother-in-law doesn't like how I handle my children," writes Mrs. O. "She criticizes me in front of them and orders me around. Should I tell her how I resent this? For my youngsters' sake, I want to overcome the fear and tension her presence arouses in me."

Has Mr. O discussed this relative's belittling treatment with Mr. O? If so, did he support her right to say, "Please don't interfere in my discipline of the children? If you don't like something I do, wait to tell me about it until we are alone."

I think he didn't—or she'd have made this demand for respect for her maternal authority. And having proved her power to resist her mother-in-law's domination, she'd have lost much of her fear of being overwhelmed by it.

SO perhaps Mrs. O's problem isn't her mother-in-law's domination at all—but her husband's fear of challenging it. Perhaps she maintains resentful silence under it because she dares not risk offending her husband.

If this is the truth it's better to know it than to go on imagining that her mother-in-law is the problem.

"My mother-in-law has performed many helpful acts of kindness to us," Mrs. O goes on. "What's wrong with me that I cannot feel calm and grateful around her? I literally begin to squirm the moment she enters the house."

IT is usually by "acts of kindness" that tyrants maintain their power over us. Their purpose is to punish us with a guilty conscience for wanting freedom and self-direction. We feel their falseness. Our own intuition tells us that they are not interested in kindness at all but in their own power.

So when we squirm in the presence of a tyrant, it's the right, not the wrong thing to do. We want to get away from them. Our squirms are our preparations for flight from their disintegrating wishes.

I expect that Mr. O has been doing a lot of unconscious squirming himself under his mother's domination. He may need more help than his wife can give to discover this truth about himself. So I suggest that she seek her clergyman or her local Family Service Association for assistance with his fear of his mother.

The unique organization known as "God's Invasion Army" was present to tell of its work and to sing some beautiful gospel songs. A Bob Jones University film, "Calvary," was shown to depict in vivid and dramatic manner some of the basic gospel truths.

Tanglewood Discovery To Sing on Jaycee Schedule

Miss Saramee Endich, a discovery of the Berkshire Festival at Tanglewood, will make an appearance in Warren on January 8 as one of the artists being presented by the Jaycee Concert Series in 1957-58.

Miss Endich is considered one of the most important discoveries of the celebrated Berkshire Festival, proving ground of many of the greatest names in music today.

She is a young lady whose voice and musicianship, looks and personality have already marked her, while only in her middle twenties, as a luminous star of the future. She is from Steubenville, O., a graduate of Ohio University and voice pupil of Emmy Joseph and Winifred Cecil.

During two seasons at Tanglewood, she won outstanding success, both in opera and in concert, with the Boston Symphony Orchestra, under Charles Munch, Boris Goldovsky and Hugh Ross.

In choral appearance and on recital tours throughout the country, she has reaped high praise for her achievements as an artist and has won a host of enthusiastic admirers.

In the New York Herald-Tribune, it was said of her: "Miss Endich is a soprano wit, a very bright future, for she is endowed with a voice of truly beautiful and rich texture."

Tickets are available for the Concert Series at the Blue and White Restaurant or the B and B Smoke Shop, or from any of the Jaycee Concert Series committee.

SOUTH AVOIDS BAD FINESSE

BY OSWALD JACOBY

Written for NEA Service

Today's hand played some years back by my old friend Frank Perkins of Boston, is an example of careful play.

West opened the king of diamonds and Frank won with the ace. A quick count showed 11 sure winners; seven trumps in his own hand, three side aces and a ruff in dummy for his third diamond. Off-hand he had a choice between a spade and a club finesse for his 12th trick, but Frank found an extra and better chance.

He could start by trying to establish dummy's fifth spade for a discard of his queen of clubs. Accordingly, Frank won the opening diamond lead and played a spade to dummy's ace. His next play was to ruff a low spade in his own hand and care was essential here. He ruffed with the eight of trumps so as to preserve the six.

Now he led that valuable six spot and overtook with dummy's seven. A third spade was led and ruffed and since both opponents followed on that trick Frank was home free.

He entered dummy with the ace of trumps and ruffed a fourth spade. His next play was to lead a low diamond. East won that trick and led a club, but Frank simply went up with the ace, trumped his remaining diamond with dummy's three spot and discarded his queen of clubs on the queen of spades.

Maija Baumanis Presents Pleasing Pre-Season Recital for Philomel

As a special pre-season activity for members and invited guests, the Philomel Club presented Miss Maija Baumanis in a piano recital at the Woman's Club, the young artist introduced by Mrs. N. D. Paterson, in-coming president of his old and well known musical organization.

Mrs. Paterson briefly outlined the young pianist's work of the past year, telling of her studies with James Friskin at the Juilliard School of Music in New York City during the winter, and of the summer scholarship accorded her with the same teacher at Chautauqua.

While at Chautauqua, Miss Baumanis was also privileged to perform as soloist with the Student Symphony and appear in the Gala Concert of the Chautauqua Music School.

Those persons filling the upstairs rooms of the clubhouse felt anticipation and particular interest in the recital, due to the former activities of Miss Baumanis in Junior Philomel Club groups; and came away with a sense of satisfaction that the young pianist shows definite improvement and has made a step forward through her past year's work.

Miss Baumanis presented her program informally, delivering her own program notes with a youthful exuberance. In the first group, composed of two Scarlatti Sonatas, one in C minor, the other in C major, and Bach's Prelude and Fugue in C Sharp Major, there was clarity and feeling for proper interpretation of the early music.

The Waldstein Sonata, Opus 31, No. 2, by Beethoven, a large undertaking even for seasoned players, showed an industrious application to control, particularly in the adagio movement.

An ambitious final group included two Chopin Etudes, Opus 25, No. 2 and Opus 1, No. 12; Rachmaninoff's Elegie Opus 3, No. 1; and the Chopin Scherzo Opus 20 in B Minor. Miss Baumanis seemed most comfortable in the Elegie, but in all these numbers there were exciting moments, and in the Scherzo the potential power of this young woman was strongly displayed.

For an encore, the audience enjoyed Dr. Gradus ad Parnassum from Debussy's Children's Corner.

The Philomel Club extended its best wishes to Miss Baumanis and will be watching her development with great interest.

A large turnout is requested for the meeting of Ladies Aid Society at First EUB church at 2:00 p. m. Thursday, when officers will be elected and a bake sale held. Hostesses will be Mrs. Charles Johnson and Mrs. Tom Johnson.

"Siwash," a word of Chinook jargon meaning "any Indian," is believed to be a corruption of the French word "Sauvage" (or "savage").

CATHOLIC YOUTH COUNCIL EVENTS

Warren Catholic Youth Council will open its new season with Mass and Corporate Communion at 5:00 p. m. Sunday, September 29, at St. Joseph's church. Following Mass, dinner will be served in the school hall; entertainment and dancing will round out the evening.

All CYC members are reminded their reservations for the dinner must be made on or before Monday, September 23. Members who may not have received cards announcing the event may make their reservations by contacting any CYC advisor, Father Rocco Tito or Father Robert Cohan by card or letter. These, also, must be made on or before the 23rd.

On Monday, September 30, the monthly general meeting will be held in St. Joseph's school hall at 7:30 p. m., with plans for the coming year to be discussed.

BIRTHDAY DINNER

Corydon—Mrs. Merle English was hostess during the weekend for a most enjoyable dinner party honoring the birthday anniversary of her husband and her step-son, Harry Nelson, of Tidioute. Both were remembered with gifts and congratulatory messages. Others attending were Mrs. Nelson, Tidioute; Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Peterson, Warren; James Larson and John Peterson, Jamestown.

TEACHERS GROUP

First fall meeting of Alpha Mu Chapter, Delta Kappa Gamma, was held at the home of Arlene Whitehill, 7 Lansing street, North Warren, with Jean Steele, Anna Jane Hawkins and Felicia Passaro assisting hostesses for a 12:30 luncheon.

Reports on the regional meeting held during the summer were given by Eva Brown and Irene Swanson, and plans were made for a meeting October 12, when Alpha Mu will entertain Gamma Chapter at the American Legion Home in Warren.

LADIES' AID

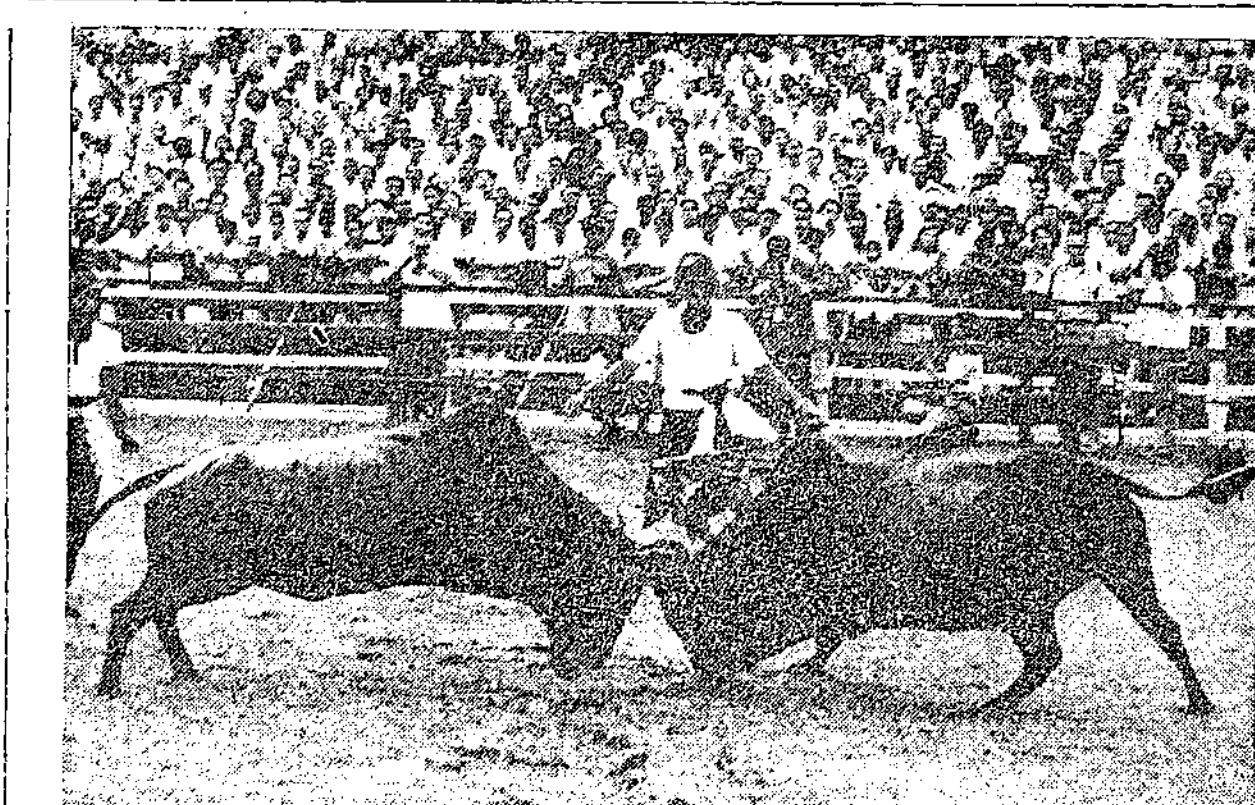

Mrs. Lloyd Hulings will entertain Tiona Ladies' Aid Society for a 1:00 o'clock dessert-luncheon at her home Friday. A business session will follow, and a good turnout is desired.

Beaty School News

STUDENT TEACHERS—There are two student teachers from Edinboro State Teachers College at Beaty: Doug Salmon is doing his student teaching under the direction of Mr. Oelslager and Mr. Connors. Mr. Hinderliter and Mr. Williams from the high school are critic teachers for Milton Sandberg.

SIC MEETINGS—The first Spot Improvement Committee meeting was held Tuesday at The Spot. All meetings this year will be held after school, and the committee is for any Beaty student who is interested in improving The Spot. The advisors this year will be Mr. Fales, Mr. Campbell, Mr. Stachowiak and Mr. Stimmel.

CALIFORNIA TESTS—The annual California Standardized Tests will begin next week at Beaty. The schedule has been set up as follows: September 23—Seventh and eighth grade reading and math tests. September 26—Seventh grade mental maturity tests. September 30—Ninth grade Language tests. In recent years these tests were given to eighth graders only, but starting next year the tests will be given to the seventh grad-

Here Are Questions Men Just Can't Get Answered

WHY is it—

That the most honest of women—if put to the job of appointing committee chairmen for an organization—will promise each person she is trying to talk into taking a hard job that it won't be "any trouble at all?"

That the woman with the most clothes in her closet is the woman who is always telling her husband, "I haven't a thing to wear?"

That a woman can convince herself she needs almost anything she sees in a store—if the price tag shows the price has been cut in half?

That the poor housekeeper usually assumes that her house is more livable than a house that is kept in apple pie order?

That so many women think that being married to a man gives them the right to correct any statement he makes?

ENERGETIC?

THAT so many women can hold down a full-time job and do the housekeeping too, while most men come home from a day's work too exhausted to do anything but sprawl in front of the TV set?

That a woman who looks positively beautiful when dressed for a party will let herself be seen at the supermarket in pin curls and shorts that loudly proclaim she would look better in a dress?

That women find it so difficult to turn down an invitation they know promises only a dull evening?

That so many women save their sweetest tones for strangers and let a whine creep into their voices whenever they are talking to members of the family?

That a woman can have such a fine time "shopping" for an afternoon without buying a single thing?

Proposed Agenda For Boro's New Sewage Treatment Project

Warren sewage treatment plant project is rolling toward the construction stage with awarding of contracts tentatively set for Nov. 1, or perhaps sooner, according to Borough Manager George Geraci.

Bids for all phases of the new sewage treatment operation are to be opened October 2. Local area bids are expected on such items as electrical and heating units while large concerns from Pittsburgh or Erie will probably bid in the general contract.

Project is expected to cost in the neighborhood of $1,500,000 with another $1,000,000 or more in bonding charges as bonds are required over a 30-year period. Under present plans, costs will be calculated with water consumption, bills to be made out by Warren Water Company.

The treatment plant is to be built on the old brewery grounds adjacent to Thomas Coupling Plant on Warren South Side.

The schedule begins with receipt of a Federal Grant Award of $250,000 and carries the project through a tentative schedule to contract deadline. Warren has until mid-1958 to comply with a state directive ordering the community to have a sewage treatment plant in operation by then. Construction will take approximately a year and one-half.

Proposed Agenda

July 9—Date of receipt of Federal Grant Award.
August 27—Receipt from Federal al Bureau of permission to advertise and receive construction bids.

August 28—Submission of plans and specifications to interested bidders on construction project.
August 28—Completion of first draft of Trust Indenture.

August 28—Completion of first draft of Lease between Authority and Borough.

September 21—Completion of first draft of offering prospectus by Singer, Deane & Scribner.

October 2—Date of receipt of construction bids (1:30 p. m.).

October 2—Completion of offering prospectus by Singer, Deane & Scribner (Except for final figures based upon construction bids).

October 3—Computation of bids by Chester Engineers.

October 3—Completion of prospectus by Singer, Deane & Scribner.

October 9—Negotiation as to purchase of bonds between Singer, Deane & Scribner and the Authority.

October 9—Advice to low bidders of conditional award of bids to them.

October 10—Submission of forms on bond issue to printer.

October 29 to 31—Completion of printing of bonds.

October 30 to November 2—Submission of bonds to Authority and Trustee for preliminary signatures.

November 5—Closing of Bond Issue.

November 5—Award of construction contracts.

November 22—"Dead-line" with Federal Bureau for award of construction contracts.

Funds From the Former Lander Fair Disbursed

Lander—Seventeen persons attended a meeting of Farmington Township Homecoming Association at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ludwick.

President Arvid Gruber presided, reminding the last Fair was held in 1947 and asking for discussion of the disposal of money remaining in the treasury.

A vote taken favored distribution of these accumulated funds as follows: $100 each to the Methodist church, Lander Volunteer Fire Department, and Lander Grange; the balance, amounting to over $70, to the Foster Cemetery Association.

The discussion also brought out the fact the land where the Fair was held was deeded to the school district at the time of its purchase.

HAL BOYLE'S COLUMN

New York (AP)—Reflections of Pavement Plato. Churches need more salesmanship.

One wonders occasionally why more pastors don't adopt the showmanship of the business world.

There have been suggestions the churches might give prizes to adults for regular attendance, as they do now for children. The thought even has been advanced

ON STRIKE—Ohio Bell Telephone Co. workers in Cleveland picket in a scene being repeated in 44 states. A total of 54,275 Bell System workers were reported out when Bell management's offer proved unacceptable to the union. The Communications Workers of America, AFL-CIO, said 146,000 workers observed picket lines.

that this could be done in a form familiar to millions of American husbands and wives — so-called premium stamps.

For example, each person might receive 5 stamps for each service he attended, plus 10 stamps for every contribution to the collection plate. These would be pasted into a book and, in time, exchanged for premiums ranging from a family Bible to religious objects — or, perhaps even badly needed household furniture.

The mere suggestion of giving premium stamps for going to church might affront the sensitive devout, but after all they are not the problem. They already go to church. The task that confronts the conscientious clergyman is how to swell his congregation so that more can hear his message.

"The church is neither a supermarket nor a filling station, and salvation is not a mere bargain," some might object.

Yet aren't they wrong? Isn't a good church the greatest of supermarkets, the finest of all filling stations, dispensing the bread of the soul and the fuel of the spirit? Isn't salvation the tremendous bargain most of the earth's lost bargain hunters are vainly seeking?

The trouble with salvation is that most people have heard it's free and therefore they doubt its value, because life has taught them you don't get something for nothing. Actually, of course, salvation has a very real price tag called penitence.

But how is the preacher going to get his flock together so he can deliver his message?

After all, the Salvation Army beats a drum in the streets to collect crowds, and out of these crowds it salvages some souls.

If a church can do the same thing by giving prizes to increase regular attendance, then is it not worth considering?

Some may say that the very idea is an affront to the dignity of religion and an invitation to flood the church with opportunistic hypocrites. But no church has as its function the pursuit of earthly dignity, and it is better for a church to be filled with hypocrites — after all, hypocrites can change—than to stand half-empty.

Would anybody's dignity really be immortally offended if, in some church that gave premium stamps, one lost soul should find salvation and at the same time win as a prize a floor lamp to read his Bible by?

Wild Life Notes

SPORTSMAN ACHIEVES GOAL
A previous amendment to the Pennsylvania Game Law legalized the acceptance of gifts of land by the Gam Commission. In the 1957 session the Legislature further amended the Law in this respect.
It authorized the Commission to accept monetary donations from person, firm corporation or association, and stipulated that such gifts shall be placed in the Game Fund.

The 1957 amendment evidently triggered the action of a leading Pennsylvania sportsman who stands ready to lend assistance to any good wildlife management cause. He recently mailed a cash contribution to the Fund in a letter addressed to Dr. Logan J. Bennett, Executive Director of the Pennsylvania Game Commission.

Explaining what motivated his generous move the donor wrote:
"According to Act. 154, effective
September 1, the Game Commission may accept donations. Once again I want to be first. Although the contribution is small it may help a little."
The Commission's comptroller has been instructed to establish and maintain a record of all such contributions. Here the sportsman's wish for a "first" will again be realized; his name will head the list.

This cash contribution, as in the case of monies collected or received by the Commission from any and all sources, is deposited in the Game Fund, the only account on which the wildlife agency draws to finance its many wildlife management operations. The Game Commission receives no financial assistance from the State General Fund.
Responding to a recent night call George Sprankle, a Bradford County Game Protector, found a crowd of people around a cub bear lying along Route 220, near Monroeton.

The animal evidently had been struck by a vehicle.
Says Sprankle, "The little bear was alive, but it lay very still. Dr.
William Whitlock, a veterinarian from Sylvania, appeared on the scene. He examined the injured animal, then gave it some shots.
The accident victim responded quickly to treatment and was soon lapping up milk.

"The cub was full of life the next day so it was ear-tagged and released near the place it was found, in the hope an anxious mama bear would be waiting to resume her natural responsibilities."
DOVE SEASON
Pennsylvania sportsmen who enjoy hunting the fast-flying, colorful mourning dove are looking forward to the approaching 1957 season, which opens September 10 and closes on the evening of October 24. The shooting hours are one-half hour before sunrise to sunset, except on October 19, when no shooting may be done before 8

a. m. The daily bag and possession limit is 10 birds.
Mourning doves are present in the state in goodly numbers. Under normal late summer conditions the birds fly between a cornfield and a watering place in early morning and late afternoon. This habit of the dove ordinarily indicates the most likely places, for hunters who do not "walk them up", to wait for pass shooting when the dipping, rolling, speedy targets come in.

Pennsy Calling Back Workmen In Region Car Shops

More than 160 men are being put to work in the car shops of the Northern Region of the Pennsylvania Railroad to speed up the car "upgrading" program, E. Carroll Hanly, superintendent of equipment at Buffalo, announced today.

The men are being employed at Buffalo, Renovo, Olean, Oil City and Northumberland in the railroad's efforts to meet shippers' needs for better class box cars, Mr. Hanly said.

Mr. Hanly added that the increased force will make it possible to upgrade an average 50 cars a day from a rough freight classification to Grade A.

Mr. Hanly noted that on an average day the car shops in the Northern Region of the Pennsylvania Railroad repair more than 300 freight cars.

There actually is a big surplus of box cars, Mr. Hanly said, but most are unsuited for handling grain, flour and the like. These cars presently are stored awaiting a pick-up in general business activity.

CANCER LIFE-LINE

Throughout the nation, Americans are learning vital facts about cancer. Through films, pamphlets, posters, exhibits and lectures, via newspapers, magazines, radio and television, the life-line of cancer education is reaching more and more men and women.

All of us are concerned with the major threat which cancer poses. Today, thousands of lives are being saved each year, but many more would be saved if people went to their doctors in time. This, and many other facts of life about cancer, are part of the education program which the American Cancer Society offers—at your community center or club, your church or school, your office or factory. For additional information, call the American Cancer Society office nearest you, or write to "Cancer" in care of your local Post Office.

Editorial Fact:
Questions for the President
By STEWART ALSOP

Washington—Most people have simply accepted the Eisenhower administration's assurances that successful Soviet tests of an intercontinental missile doesn't matter much and changes nothing. There have been a few voices, in the wilderness, that it alters a great deal and changes everything.

Stewart Symington of Miami said on Thursday that the country is being "misled" by the Eisenhower administration's "sweet k" about the ICBM. Symington sometimes seems to be the only politician left in the land who is willing to face the politically unstable facts of our situation. The bluntest indictment of the administration's reaction to the Soviet ICBM tests appeared in a full page of an official reaction to the Soviet ICBM tests appeared in a full page editorial in "Aviation Week", a magazine which has a genuinely brilliant record of reporting the facts of the true balance of Soviet and American air power.

Since "Aviation Week" has a limited circulation, the editorial seems worth quoting at some length. "Official government statements on the Russian ICBM firings

30-MINUTE TEST PROVES: NEW GAS BURNER-WITH-A-BRAIN WON'T SCORCH FOOD

30 minutes on ordinary burner

30 minutes on Burner-with-a-Brain GAS Range

Here's proof that foods won't burn on a new GAS Burner with a Brain. Even if you get busy and forget—the automatic heat control will keep your vegetables, or any food, from reaching scorching temperature.

What happens is this: you dial the temperature it takes to cook your vegetable. A special sensing unit takes over from then on. It turns the GAS flame up or down, just as you would do, to keep the heat exactly right for that food. Just think! Vegetables won't scorch. Bacon can't burn. French fries have golden, crisp crust instead of being soggy and greasy. Everything is cooked just right because the Burner with a Brain has the exact temperature control you get only with GAS.

States produces its first medium range missile?

Is it true that, well before the Russian announcement, you and other high officials were quite aware that the Soviets had tested not one but several long range, multi-stage ballistic missiles?

Is it true that our own ICBM program has only reached the point of testing the initial, first-stage rocket, and that the problems of adding the second stage, and maintaining guidance, remain to be solved?

If this is true, is it not then also reasonable to assume that in the field of long range missiles as well the Soviets are decisively ahead of us?

Is it not reasonable to assume, as the Soviets themselves have indicated, that their central purpose in making such an enormous effort to win the missile races is to bring our strategic air bases under threat of instant thermonuclear destruction?

If the Soviets maintain their apparent lead in the missile race, is it not further reasonable to assume that a time will come when the American capability to inflict "massive retaliation," which is the heart and soul of American strategic doctrine, will be compromised?

And finally, if all these things are true, might it not be wise for you, as the leader of the American people, to inform them of the real facts of their situation, and to ask of them whatever sacrifices may is necessary to ensure that the race for missile supremacy is not won by the Soviets? Might it not be wiser to do this than to take the risk that Sen. Symington might be proved right in his dour prediction: "If the policies of this government are not changed, it is only a question of time before we will lose our country?"

Recognition Service Planned At Red Cross Chapter Meeting

Robert E. Dunham, elected in June to head the Warren County Red Cross Chapter, presided at his first quarterly session of the board on Monday afternoon in chapter headquarters.

Mrs. R. W. Steber, head of Volunteer Services, announced a Recognition Service will be held at headquarters, 404 Market street, at 7:30 p. m. Thursday to acknowledge the service of Nurse Aides and Gray Ladies during the year.

Routine reports were given by the secretary, Mrs. E. G. Hamilton, and assistant treasurer, Edward Ryberg; Mrs. E. M. Bell, home service secretary. Paul Steinkamp reported winter life saving classes will get under way soon and he hopes to have a class for retarded children, as well as the sessions for handicapped children.

The chairman referred to a "steering committee" set up to assist him with decisions between quarterly meetings. With him in this group are the vice presidents, Wendell Peterson and Willis Lundahl; treasurer, Paul Harrington; and former chairman, Ralph Sire.

Resignation of Warren Miller as Junior Red Cross chairman was reported and authorization given the chairman for appointment of successor; J. H. Alexander was asked to take charge of revision by chapter by-laws; Mrs. T. I. Armstrong, Camp and Hospital Services chairman, reported the August "request list" quota sent.

Announcement was made of the fall conference of western Pennsylvania chapters, to be held at Sharon September 29-30 to consider the Red Cross and Civil Defense Fund Raising, Development of Volunteers; and Community Relations. Reservations must be made with the office secretary, Miss Irma Eba, no later than this weekend.

Attention was also called to the Red Cross Disaster Relief Fund project being staged by the James town Furniture Mart October 5-6, when a public showing will be held for the first time in 20 years and all tickets sold will be credited to respective chapters. Dick Betts, in charge of this promotion, will announce additional details soon.

Style News For Men (according to Ty Taylor of Pittsburgh) notes that "when trying for top-level positions, it's important to carry yourself in an authoritative manner, as an executive would. A creative mind is a pre-requisite, of course, but this is an age when people are impressed with what they see. When shopping for a new suit, buy one smartly styled that draws attention to you and gives you an aura of well-being. This season find a suit with an air of elegance about it—the look of success."

You'll look successfully for the right fall suit when you do your looking at The Style Shop. Known throughout the area as headquarters for "the best in menswear", The Style Shop personnel invites you to select the finest in accessories also.

Each new term finds Jefferson school pupils heading for home with a complete and handy brochure to aid parents in keeping track of the various bank days, milk days and holidays. It's ever so helpful in many ways. October 18 and October 21 will find the kids home while teachers attend special sessions; Thanksgiving vacation begins Thursday, November 28 to include Friday the 29th. Christmas vacation starts December 20 to resume on January 6 of a new year. The first report card will be sent to parents via the kids on October 22 (better get busy with those lessons!)

Another inclusion in the brochure were some 23 ways parents can help in school. Here are a few of them—"Make friendly visits at times other than special occasions; furnish materials (such as plants, cookies etc.) to make school a happy, pleasant place. Discourage loose criticism of school; encourage teachers by inviting them to your home; help new teachers get acquainted in the community; and participate actively in PTA work."

As autumn fast approaches, Warren's beautiful trees and foliage are just beginning to take on those warm new colors. There's a haze in the cool of the morning and the air at night is crisp. The tiring heat of summer is weeks gone and the desire for a tall, frosty glass of lemonade has been replaced by a craving for hot coffee. Somehow, we've no desire for potato salad or cold cuts as of now, but think instead of pork and sauerkraut cooking happily throughout an afternoon. Today marked the official close of ladies golf at CVCC and many an out-

YOUR FOREST RANGER

L. E. Stotz

For 33 years the U. S. Forest Service has preserved and protected certain lands in the national forests system for wilderness use. Today 14 million acres, of the 182 million acres administered by the Forest Service, fall within this classification. These 14 million acres consist of 12 wilderness areas; 23 wild areas; and 43 primitive areas.

The over-all objectives of national forest management are multiple use and sustained yield of the resources of the Forests. Under this type of management the national forests yield the greatest public benefits and satisfy as many public needs as possible.

But the recognition of wilderness use on 14 million acres means restricting some of the other uses on that land if wilderness values are to be preserved. These areas furnish clear water, wildlife, limited amounts of forage for grazing animals, scientific values, and the intangible values that come from wilderness enjoyment. But the timber cannot be cut. Scenic highways are not permitted. Mass recreational use and large reservoirs must be excluded.

Wilderness and primitive areas create special problems of administration. They are big and they are remote. They are constantly threatened by big lightning fires, by disease and insect epidemics. Fire control is costly, difficult and dangerous. The Forest Service has developed crack troops—the famed smoke jumpers—for fighting fires in this country. But if explosively dry conditions should develop, followed by dry lightning storms, one or more of the lightning strikes might start a holocaust that would destroy hundreds of thousands of acres of wilderness country before it could be stopped. And the fire might spread beyond the wilderness and wipe out some fine stands of timber being managed for continuous crops.

Like fire, insects and disease do not respect wilderness boundaries. Over-mature timber is subject to extensive wind damage. The roots are weak, and when a large blow-down occurs insects will attack and may build up to epidemic proportions. When this occurs they spread over great areas beyond the blow-down and take a heavy toll of standing timber.

To penetrate any of these great wilderness areas you need to be in good health, able to take care of yourself and properly equipped for such an expedition. A good hiker can experience some of the thrill of a wilderness vacation, but he will have to pack all of his food and camping equipment on his back. If he is not used to high altitude hiking he might find the pack he carried easily at sea level burdensome at elevations of 8,000 feet. The best way to visit these mountain areas is with a saddle horse between your knees, and a pack horse trotting along behind with your supplies.

To fully appreciate wilderness travel the experience should be shared with others. This can be done by joining an expedition of the Trail Riders of the Wilderness, an organization sponsored by the American Forestry Association of Washington, D. C.

A typical expedition will require fifty or more saddle and pack horses to carry the trail riders, their guides, wranglers, food, shelter and other necessities.

You will leave far behind the "tin can tourist," the super-highways, the din and the tensions of modern living. You will exchange the roar of traffic for the golden eagle's scream and the cry of the coyote. The garish neon signs at night will be replaced by the soft glow of a friendly campfire. The beat-beat-beat of canned music will give way to the sound of the night breeze in the forest trees. You will return filled with an inner peace and a new sense of values.

Institutional Conclave To Be Held By Local Scouts Monday

The first Institutional Conclave to be held in this area will be held by the Chief Complanter Council, Boy Scouts of America, at the YMCA at 7:30 p. m. on Monday night. The Conclave is for the purpose of acquainting institutions of the county with the way the Boy Scout program operates, and is open to both those institutions which now sponsor Scout Units, and to Institutions which do not now sponsor Scouting. The program is designed to be of value to heads of Youth work, whether they contemplate organizing the Boy Scout program or not.

Jim Wright is chairman of the conclave, and is assisted by Rev. L. W. MAKE RESTITUTION
Ted Dunn, 23, of 210 Pennsylvania avenue, West, and David Carlson, 18, of 329 Jackson avenue, both pleaded guilty to charges of stealing junk from Warren environments when arraigned before Peace Justice Fred Berry last night. The pair made restitution and were discharged from custody upon payment of costs.

NARROW MISS
What could have been a bad accident turned out to be a relatively simple sideswiping affair on Route 8 two miles west of Warren yesterday afternoon. According to state troopers, A. R. Briggs, 88, of Youngville, was parked along the germ in his sedan when he started out by cutting into the path of two westbound tractor-trailers. First truck driver, John E. Straub, 36, of Oil City, swerved his tractor to the left and in so doing sideswiped the other tractor-trailer unit operated by Lloyd C. Evans, 29, of Effingham, Ill. Total damage was estimated at $75 by investigating officers.

CASE STILL OPEN
Westfield, N. Y.—State police of the Westfield barracks are still investigating the death of a man clad only in a shirt, whose body was found in a creek less than 100 yards from Route 20 in the neighborhood of Sheridan Saturday afternoon. A pair of men's black trousers and a pair of cream colored swimming trunks were found near the body which was in an inch of water. In the trousers was an identification card bearing the name of John Sweeney, 46, of 94 Russell avenue, Buffalo. Coroner Theodore S. Morse said he believed the pants pockets were rifled of their contents as no valuables or money were found. Morse said an autopsy showed neither broken bones or wounds. State police call the case "still open". Two hunters exercising their dogs ran across the badly decomposed body, estimated to have been in the stream bed two to three months. A sister of Sweeney in Buffalo said she had not heard from her brother in two years. Reportedly she was to come to Dunkirk hospital to see if she could recognize the body.

Stay Asked by Board in Virginia School Dispute

Alexandria, Va. (AP)—U. S. Judge Albert V. Bryan today held up, pending appeal, the application of his order for integration of four Arlington County, Va., white schools next Monday.

The stay had been asked by the school board, largely on the ground that great damage would be done if the admission of Negro pupils proved only temporary. Atty. James H. Simmonds argued for the school board that admission of the seven Negroes involved in the order would result in closing schools serving more than 5,000 pupils. He said that was because of state law requiring withholding of state funds from any integrated school.

The school board is carrying to the 4th Circuit Court of Appeals the case in which Bryan last Saturday ordered the seven admitted.

AERIAL MYSTERY

court a desire to clarify the matter and would resign forthwith should it be found that he could not legally hold the title.

(Actually, the issue as it now stands is a touchy one for eighth-class Forest County which has only three attorneys. Of these, one is district attorney, another is returning from too much practice and the third is the one released when the present commissioners took office.)

In his second opinion, Judge Flick suggested that the law concerning appointment of county auditor by the court be amended to have it coincide with the County Code which stipulates that the auditor be an elected official.

Said Judge Flick: "The Court held that although the current amendment of the Act of 1874, which sets the compensation of these officers and provides that the excess of fees be divided with the County, mentions an auditor to be appointed by the Court, the Court no longer has authority to appoint such an auditor because the County Code provides that the elected County Auditors shall audit the books of all County officers. The Court said that the law should be amended so as to remove the confusing reference to the 'auditor appointed by the Court', as there is no such person under the present County Code.

The Court had been petitioned to appoint an auditor to audit the accounts of the Prothonotary, Clerk of Courts, Register, Recorder and Clerk of Orphans' Court, all offices being held by one person in Forest County.

Tropical Storm

corded on the Lake Pontchartrain causeway, the world's longest overwater bridge, which crosses the huge lake just north of New Orleans. There were no reports of damage in the New Orleans area.

At 7 a. m., the New Orleans Weather Bureau said Esther was roughly 100 miles across south-east Louisiana.

Buras, east of New Orleans, reported, five inches of rain in 2 1/2 hours. It was still raining hard in the morning.

By 7:30 a. m. the storm had passed New Orleans and was moving northeast about 12 to 15 m.p.h. Esther's predicted course was across Mississippi today and into northern Alabama tonight.

Tides from three to five feet were expected along most of the Gulf of Mexico coast. Another storm, Hurricane Carrie, was about 380 miles northeast of Bermuda, moving eastward at about 15 miles an hour. It was expected to speed up slowly and turn east-northeasterly during the day.

MIGRANT CAMP RULING

Harrisburg (AP)—A new Justice Department ruling gives the State Labor and Industry Department the authority to establish regulations governing the transportation of migrant workers in Pennsylvania. An opinion was written yesterday at the request of William L. Batt Jr., labor and industry secretary and chairman of the department's industrial board. That board is now considering the first revision in 30 years of state regulations for migrant labor camps.

REFLECTIONS—If the smiling faces mirrored at left are a real reflection of things to come, West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, 81, will be successful in his bid for votes in coming general elections. The 81-year-old chairman of the Christian Democratic Union leans from train window at Michelstadt during a four-week tour.

The company and union have opposing views on the effectiveness of the first day of the strike.

Braves Breathe Easier With Top Hatcher Men in Lineup

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press
Jarrin Joe Adcock and Hammerin' Hank Aaron Milwaukee's top hatcher men, are back in business and the Braves are breathing easy again.
It was Aaron and Adcock who homered home at the runs and split six of Milwaukee's nine hits in a 3-1 victory over the New York Giants last night—giving the Braves two in a row for the first time in two weeks and retaining their three-game National League lead with 10 to go.
It was a neat and necessary job since second-place St. Louis stayed with it, rallying for seven runs in the seventh that crushed Brooklyn 12-5. The third-place Brooklyn for two years, now are virtually out of it trailing by eight with eight to play.
Any combination of eight Milwaukee victories and St. Louis defeats wraps up the Braves' first pennant since 1948.

Three-Run Homer Spells Victory for Cleveland

Washington (AP)—A three-run homer by Russ Nixon in the second inning started the Cleveland Indians on the way to a 7-3 victory over the Washington Senators last night.
Ray Narleski held the Senators to nine hits in notching his 11th victory. His bid for a shutout was ruined in the eighth when pinch-hitter Julio Becquer singled and scored on Jim Lemon's sacrifice fly after Ed Yost and Roy Sievers had walked to lead the bases.
The Indians scored three in the sixth on singles by Gene Woodling, Vic Wertz, Roger Marns and George Strickland, and a steal of home by Wertz.

Crash Kings feature more actual crash acts than any other Auto Daredevil Thrill show and with the low adult admission of $1.50, and 50c for children, fans should arrive well in advance of the 8 p. m. starting time, if they hope to get a good seat. Reserved seats may be secured, for the small, extra charge of 50c, by simply calling Smethport 481. Reserved tickets may be picked up at the box office at showtime. This veteran stock car pilot has competed at nearly every speedway in this area and is well known by local fans, who see him at the fairgrounds every Thursday night. His experience and outstanding driving ability make him a very valuable part of that stellar group.

Pirates Tutoring Home Run Clouter To Mix Them Up

Pittsburgh (AP)—Dick Stuart, an outfielder whose major baseball specialty is the home run, is being tutored by the Pittsburgh Pirates in the hope he'll also hit singles, doubles and triples.
Stuart, a brash youngster who is proud of his home run record, failed this year in trials with the Pirates, Hollywood Stars and Atlanta. He struck out more often than he homered and was guilty of poor defensive work.
Stuart hit about 10 balls over the fence at Forbes Field yesterday and after a one hour and 45 minute workout, special batting coach George Sisler said he slugger looked good.
"Sisler showed me several things that should improve my hitting," Stuart said. "He intends to keep me here for about a week, hitting and doing some defensive work, too."
Stuart finished the season with Lincoln, Neb. in the Class A Western League where he hit 45 home runs. He set a Western League record in 1956 with 66 homers.

Anthony's Manager Says Challenger Could Win Early

By JACK STEVENSON
Los Angeles, (AP)—Tony Anthony's manager states his young challenger might stop the venerable light heavyweight champion Archie Moore with a single punch on Friday night.
"He can hit and he can box," says Ernie Braca of the New Yorker. "He can take a guy out in one punch."
Braca, however, appears to go along with the general feeling that the longer the bout progresses, the better Anthony's chances. The fight is scheduled for 15 rounds.
"He's not going out there to trade with the champion," the manager said. "We know Moore is tough and can hit, so why play into his hand?"
Tony will stay away and wait for openings in the later rounds.
The former AAU titlist wound up his sparring yesterday after a total of 93 rounds. In addition, he did an estimated 135 miles of road work.
Just what Moore has done remains somewhat secret, along with his success at reducing.

Fullback Atkeson Will Join Steelers in West

Minneapolis (AP)—Fullback Dale Atkeson, who decided to quit pro football after being traded recently to the Pittsburgh Steelers, will play with the club after all.
Atkeson, obtained from the Washington Redskins, reported yesterday to the Steelers' training quarters. He had been persuaded to change his mind by Steeler Coach Buddy Parker.
Brad Myers, a veteran back obtained in a trade with the Los Angeles Rams, was dropped to make room for Atkeson.
The Steelers are working out here for their last exhibition Saturday night with the Green Bay Packers.

Michelsen Admits Panthers Prepared For Saturday Game

Pittsburgh (AP)—Taciturn Johnny Michelsen quietly admits his Pitt Panthers are ready for Saturday's football battle here with Oklahoma, victor in its last 40 contests.
Michelsen didn't go overboard in making an appraisal yesterday—he never does—but he indicated he feels the squad is coming along fine. Maybe even better than he had hoped.
For the first time in weeks Michelsen appeared at least somewhat satisfied after his players completed their final scrimmage.
"Fullback Dick Bowen's bad leg is holding up well," Michelsen said after the workout. "Tackle Bill Lindner has returned after a long absence. Guard Dick Carr jogged around well after his injury and end Art Gob got in some tough work."
Michelsen concluded: "We'll be ready."

Potato Bowl Trophy Retained by Corry

Corry Journal: The Potato Bowl trophy, born in Corry eight years ago, is safe in the hands of Lou Hanna's Beavers for another season.
Miss Jackie Clark, Corry's 19 Potato Queen, chosen last week, the city's annual Potato Festival, presented the coveted cup to captain Lee Williams and Danny Vannoy immediately after the Beavers had handed Warren Dragons a 32-7 shellacking Saturday night.
Since the event was inaugurated back in 1950, the Orange and Black gridders have emerged victorious in every Potato Bowl contest. The closest the Hannamen came to losing the cup was in Corry's first game with North East, which the Beavers won, 20-13.
The average score for a Potato Bowl contest before Saturday's game was 31-7. The Beavers can only one point from hitting the mark on the nose as they bested Warren 32-7.
Following are the years and scores of every Potato Bowl game from 1950 to 1957:
1950—North East ... 20-13
1951—Youngsville ... 41-13
1952—Titusville ... 32-0
1953—Warren ... 39-6

Penn'a Is Getting More Money For Vocal Rehabilitation In 1958 Than Any Other State

By JOHN KOENIG, JR.
AP Special Washington Service
Washington, (AP)—Pennsylvania will get more money from the federal government for vocational rehabilitation during the 1958 fiscal year than any other state.

The Keystone State will receive $3,448,359 on a matching basis for its job re-training program conducted by the Department of Labor and Industry.

The second highest amount, $2,940,000, goes to New York. California is third with $2,358,230. Georgia is fourth with $2,049,659 and Illinois fifth with $1,625,960.

Pennsylvania, however, is far behind the leaders in total grants to the states by the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, which is allocating a total $2,202,852,912.

A comprehensive table released by the department shows California outstripping all other states in total grants from the Department with $228,074,368. Pennsylvania stands eighth with $79,301,002 for the fiscal year which began July 1. Where the Keystone State falls behind is in funds granted by the Social Security Administration, and in particular, the old age assistance category.

California and every other state exceeding Pennsylvania in total funds to be received—with the exception of New York—by far outstripped the commonwealth in grants for old-age assistance.

In another major category of department aid, Public Health Service, Pennsylvania stood third and is due to receive $10,259,314. New York is first with $11,361,483 and Texas second with $10,400,071.

A breakdown of Public Health Service funds allocations shows Pennsylvania third in mental health—one of the commonwealth's key governmental programs in recent years—with $234,700. Another important program of the last decade—stream clearance—is aided with an appropriation of $2,098,725, second largest among the states, for waste treatment works construction.

A hospital construction aid fund of $6,454,489 for Pennsylvania, also under the Public Health Service allocations, is second highest among the states. Texas is the leader with $7,153,621.

In another major category the office of education, Pennsylvania is third with $174,720 in money earmarked for colleges of agriculture and mechanic arts. New York is first with $217,934 and California second with $175,599.

However, in total funds allocated among the states by the office of Education, Pennsylvania is far down the list, standing 14th with $4,722,091.

Here a big factor is money granted for maintenance and operation of schools. The leader, California, receives 20 million dollars. For school construction, California is being allocated 5½ millions. Pennsylvania in these two categories receives $2,050,000 and $100,000.

The complete Pennsylvania allocations:

Office of Education: Cooperative vocational education, $2,194,484; colleges of agriculture and mechanic arts, $174,720; rural library services, $202,387; maintenance and operation of schools, $2,050,000; school construction, $100,000; total, $4,722,091.

Public Health Service: General Health, $830,000; mental health $234,700; cancer control $138,600; heart disease control, $105,200; tuberculosis control, $283,500; water pollution control $134,100; waste treatment works construction, $2,098,725; hospital construction, $6,454,489; total, $10,259,314.

Social Security Administration: Old Age assistance, $21,633,000; aid to dependent children, $26,983,000; aid to the blind, $3,801,000; aid to permanently and totally disabled, $6,738,000; maternal and child health service, $646,145; services for crippled children, $609,420; child welfare services, $442,179; total, $60,852,744.

Aid to printing for blind, $18,494.

Vocational rehabilitation, $3,448,359.
